The Senator Question.

The Whigs of this District seem to be in indescribable tribulation concerning who is to be or who is not to be the candidate of their party for the office of Senator. Considerable excitement prevails with regard to this matter, and criminations and recriminations thicken .-The Cambrian of July 29th reads out of the Whig ranks the great Nester of the party in this county, R. L. Johnston, Esq., for which there is no Democrat but can throw up his cap and cry so mote it be. Mr. Johnston has been the bitter and unrelenting antagonist of the Democracy of this section for years, and no member of our party but will feel rejoiced that his glory has denarted. He has been the most violent opponeut of the men and measures of our organization that could be found in our midst, and the condemnation of a portion of his own party is neats than it is highly prized by the sterling Dcmocracy.
